Creative DevOps / Cloud Operations Director

Hamburg

We are looking for a creative DevOps / Cloud Operations Director.

You are part of our DevOps Team and will take care of optimizing our internal development workflows, hosting, and deployment infrastructure for web apps and installations. You combine development knowhow with infrastructural rollout knowhow.

We are not looking for an old school blade-Unix admin, but a creative DevOps person, who knows his way around a multitude of operating systems, development environments and knows his ways around deployment and monitoring and most importantly has fun doing so. You will be tweaking existing pipelines and build new pipelines, experiment with new tools, and work together with our developers to get the best toolsets that are available.

Excellent knowledge in Kubernetes, Helm, AWS, Terraform, and ideally know-how with GitLab and autodevops is a must.

We offer you a highly innovative, international, and cozy work environment, filled with experts all around the world, allowing you a high degree of self-realization and projects one can be proud of.

Your work will include, but is not limited to:

- Build and optimize Kubernetes based staging and production workflows
- Create technical infrastructure concepts of large scale applications.
- Working together with our developers to create the perfect setup for the project in terms of workflow, CI, hosting, and monitoring.
- Deployment of VM and/or docker based machines
- Many other fun things ;)
